

Coolmax® Hardware Winter – Alurunner, Germany

Riding downhill on a sled looks to be a returning trend, as there were several sledge entries in the hardware winter category. The jury picked the most sophisticated entry, Alurunner, as the winner.

Alurunner is a very stylish Aluminum sled with full suspension and a damped seating surface. In addition, it's foldable, which makes it easy to store. This piece of art is almost too beautiful to run down the increasing number of toboggan runs in the mountains. Thanks to its full suspension, the Alurunner ride becomes more comfortable and healthier for the spine.

„As a father, of course, I am especially interested in all kid sports products. But the Alurunner definitely has the potential to become my personal favorite winter product due to its design style in combination with its additional function like suspension and damped seating area.“ (Leon Widdison, Sports Product Designer)
